UNIFORMED SERVICES UNIVERSITY of the Health Sciences

Matthew R. D'Angelo, CRNA, DNP
Nurse Anesthetist Program Assistant Professor

Dr. Matthew D'Angelo is an Assistant Professor in the Graduate School of Nursing and serves and a program faculty member of the Nurse Anesthesia Program.

Dr. D'Angelo has more than 19 years of experience with the U.S. Army Reserve. He enlisted in the Army in 1992 and served as an infantryman. During this time, D'Angelo completed a Bachelors of Science in Nursing from the University of Maryland, Baltimore. Dr. D'Angelo began his nursing career as a pediatric critical care nurse at the University of Maryland Medical Center. He commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve in 1999.

Dr. D'Angelo continued his education and completed a Master of Science from Georgetown University in 2001. He became a Certified Registered Nurse Anesthetist in 2002. In 2008, Dr. D'Angelo completed a Doctor of Nursing Practice degree with an emphasis in fluid resuscitation from the University of Maryland School of Nursing.

Dr. D'Angelo has served as a staff nurse anesthetist at the R Adams Cowley Shock Trauma Center in Baltimore and at The Northwest Hospital Center in Randallstown, Maryland. In addition to his clinical experiences, Dr. D'Angelo has served as the Assistant Program Director for the University of Maryland Nurse Anesthesia Program and has been a clinical preceptor for a variety of nurse anesthesia programs throughout the Baltimore-Washington region. He is a veteran of Operation Iraqi Freedom having served as the Assistant Chief of Anesthesia Nursing for the 345th Combat Support Hospital located in Al Asad, Iraq.

Dr. D'Angelo is currently a reviewer for the American Association of Nurse Anesthetist Journal (AANA Journal) and has published and presented on a variety of clinical issues surrounding trauma/critical care anesthesia.